I.G. Frederick has written professionally longer than she cares to admit. Since 2001, she has specialized in erotic fiction and poetry and has sold numerous short stories and poems to various print and electronic publishers.

Her novels have received high praise from readers, critics, and other writers. Dommage was a Night Owl Romance Top Pick. Preditors & Editors readers poll named Shattered one of the top ten erotica novels published in 2008 and Broken number twelve in the mainstream category.

I.G.'s short stories have appeared in Hustler Fantasies, Forum, Foreplay, and several anthologies. She currently has short stories available for electronic download, including "If You Love Someone," named one of the top ten romance short stories published in 2008 by the Preditors & Editors readers poll.

She has given presentations on subjects as diverse as sexuality, writing, and marketing at a variety of events. You can read reviews of her work and find links to purchase her novels, poetry books, and individual short stories on her website: <http://eroticawriter.net/>.
